Mr. ████████, our President, Saunders Jones, has relayed to me your interest in us as a source of cast iron cookware---which you will then enamel and market.

We understand you want unfinished castings, however it is only fair that we tell you that our metallurgical results are geared toward castings which do not require enameling. You can understand that your requirements would be an insignificant part of our total production, and we could not let the enameling aspect govern our results. In fact, we serve Roesch, Inc. of Belleville on this same basis. Admittedly they are not pleased with the results.

This is all to thank you for your interest, but perhaps suggest that you may serve Prizer Painter Stove Works best by locating a source of castings made primarily for enameling.
